UNNEEDED ADMONITIONS.

There are a great many people who have heard or read the warning not to rock the boat, and yet the mortality records of a season show that the warning is not universally heeded.

There are millions of people who have heard or read the warning not to rock the boat, and yet the mortality records of a season show that the warning is not universally heeded.

There is probably not a person in the country who ever handles a gun who is not aware of the death danger which is in the air for whoever drags a weapon through the fence by the end of the barrel, not one who does not realize that he should not point a gun at another even if in fun and with a weapon as innocently as a child, but still these things are day by day being done.

There are multitudes who fully realize that they should not gamble or speculate with other people's money, or with their own when they cannot afford to lose, but they keep on doing it with disastrous results.

There are as many people in the United States as the total number of duly qualified voters who know what they should do during the present months if they are to exercise the right of franchise in November, but probably there will be millions who, despite the admonitions of speakers and press, and the urgings of their own consciences, will fail to register as by the law in all the states is required.

If these people, neglecting a manifest duty, will be unable to vote in November, and are in effect helping to rock the ship of state, they are not looking or listening for the evidences of danger to the nation. If the gun is not in their own hands, they are not alert as to what harm the weapon of the franchise may do in the hands of another. When they do not take note of what may be the result if they leave others to cast a vote when they themselves do not, they are speculating on the downfall of government.

If the above suggestions mean anything to the reader, he will not fail to register, and afterwards he will not fail to vote.

Weather and Crop Conditions.

The rains of the three days ending October 1st proved record-breaking over most of the state, many localities reporting a total precipitation of of the remainder of the week was of the Indian summer type, with warm, clear days and moderately cool nights. The percentage of possible sunshine averaged about 68, says the state meteorologist at Ithaca.

Damage by flooding of crops in low places was general, and, despite pleasant weather during the middle of the week, farm work was delayed by wet ground, lodged crops, etc. Reports indicate harvest of peaches, buckwheat, and beans about completed. Most grapes and winter apples are still green, yet some are being picked. The condition of corn is poor, much of it now showing frost damage. The bean crop is considered poor, but the potato outlook is good.

THE GUIDE POST—

TWO MOTHERS' INFLUENCE

For this child I prayed; and Jehovah hath given me my petition which I asked of him; therefore also I have granted him to Jehovah: as long as he liveth he is granted to Jehovah.—1 Samuel 1:27-28.

She went out and said to her mother, What shall I ask? And she said, The head of John the Baptist.—Mark 6:21.

Just look at the two mothers referred to in these passages.

First, there was Hannah, who consecrated her son to the service of God at Shiloh, putting him in charge of the priest.

But she didn't cast him forth and say, "Here is the child. Now you train him and I will be rid of him."

No, she came to see him, and remembered that he had bodily as well as spiritual needs.

Moreover, his mother made him a little robe, and brought it to him from year to year.

It is easy to see what sort of child and man Samuel would be.

Consecrated to God even before he was born, it is no wonder that he was the first prophet, the great counselor and spiritual leader of Israel in the stormy days of the early kingdom.

And now look at a second mother. Herodias married Philip and bore a daughter, who was called Salome.

Prompted apparently by ambition, she left Philip, a modern style, and married Herod.

In doing so, she met the opposition of John the Baptist, stern preacher of righteousness and repentance in the corrupt court.

You remember the wretched story: Salome, in the dance which is to this day the common type of voluptuousness, won Herod's promise to give her anything she wanted.

And she brought forth forward by her mother, and gave her a head on a platter the head of John the Baptist.

RENFELD IS COMING

FORMER MEMBER OF WILSON CABINET TO LECTURE IN ONEONTA.

Six Excellent Entertainments Assured for Normal and High School Entertainment Course—Two Lectures, "Middie Broomer Bush," "Vandell," "Madame T. T. Jones," and an Opera—All Big Features.

The committee in charge of the course of entertainments annually presented in the High school auditorium under the auspices of the Normal and Public schools has arranged for a unusually attractive program for the season of 1934-35.

As a result of extended negotiations reaching over the last four months, Professor A. M. Curtis of the local committee has secured a definite promise from William C. Renfeldt, formerly secretary of Commerce during the administration of President Wilson, that he will come to Oneonta and discuss some of the pertinent problems of the day from the platform of the High school auditorium in our season's course of lectures.

Then, too, the Scottish Musical Comedy company, which gave such a delightful evening last year in "Cottier's Saturday Night," is coming back in "Bonnie Blair Bush," but not to anticipate.

The opening number occurs Wednesday, November 12, when Dr. Charles A. Eaton, editor of Leslie's Weekly, makes his first appearance in Oneonta. Dr. Eaton holds a unique position in the eyes of the world. He is known among the masses as "The Big Brother of New York," and, at the same time, he is recognized as, without doubt, the world's greatest consulting expert in industrial relations. For years he has been ranked with Joseph Choate and Chauncey Depew as an after-dinner speaker; while as a toastmaster and presiding officer, he is in a class by himself. Dr. Eaton is an author of note as well as an orator of extraordinary power. His contributions in the leading journals of the United States, Canada, and Great Britain and his editorials in Leslie's are copied far and wide.

Katherine Tift-Jones, the American disease, appears Friday, December 5. Has it ever been your privilege to sit beneath the spell of a genius, who first hypnotizes you with her radiant personality, then weaves with the magic of her art a charming web of words and thoughts that completely captures your mind and holds you breathless to the last? Have you ever experienced a complete forgetfulness of the passage of time and let your fancy rove from picture to picture, from thought to thought, living with the interpreter the lives of those whom she conjures before you? A soul-satisfying experience shall be yours if you will take advantage of the opportunity to hear Katherine Tift-Jones, American disease, interesting modern poetry, the classics, and the folklore of the south. Georgia Price is an harpist whose renditions have attracted unusually favorable comment. She will present groups of selections exhibiting wide diversity and will create the musical setting and background for some of the readings of Katherine Tift-Jones.

The January attraction falls on the twenty-eighth of the month, and is none other than a group of three musicians calling themselves the "International Artists," of only one of whom it is necessary to speak here in detail. Nicholas Vassiloff will be remembered as the "sensation" with the original Russian Cathedral quartet; and later with the famous "Russian Cathedral Sextette" of which he was organist and director. No singer has been heard more than this smiling, gracious, blond, young Russian with the courtliness of a continental courier and with a voice of unlimited resources. His beautiful tenor exhibits rare qualities of timbre and nuance, its smoothness and warmth, its volume, and his interpretation, prove him the true artist and idealist. Mr. Vassiloff was born in Petrograd of a very musical family. His father and his seven brothers were not only professional singers, but all tenors. When a child he was boy soloist in the finest choir in Petrograd, singing under the directorship of such well-known composers as Orhangelsky, Lerneroff and Shostakovich. Destined by his parents to priesthood his mind even in the seminary constantly returned to his beloved music. He managed to study with a famous tenor, opera singer and professor in the Imperial Petrograd Conservatory of Music. Later, during the war he was chosen to come to this country to join the Russian Choir of New York and pursue his long cherished ambition. With Vassiloff are Ary Fuler, violinist, and Fela Rybler, pianist and accompanist.

"The Cottier's Saturday Night" of last season's course proved so satisfying that arrangements were promptly made to have the same company return this winter on February 24. On the occasion of their second visit to this city the Scottish Musical Comedy company will present "The Bonnie Brier Bush." The Bonnie Brier Bush is a compact sketch based on writings of the late Ian MacLaren, John K. Van Dine, who has made Robert Burns' poems into a modern comedy. Known as a comic before, he called the incidents of this latter offering from "Bonnie the Bonnie Brier Bush," "In the Days of Lark Spinn," and "Kate Carnegie," and has created another delightful vein in the presentation of Scottish story, song and character.

March 9 is the date of the Modern Light Opera company. The Modern Light Opera company was organized with artists of unusual excellence. Careful study has been given to harmonizing effects in costumes and gown with a result that the company is unsurpassed in stage appearance. The musical numbers are carefully selected and arranged to offer a program that would present a play well rounded but diversified. In this end, entire scenes are chosen from several of the most popular light operas instead of presenting one act opera which might be thought of as tedious to the particular audience.

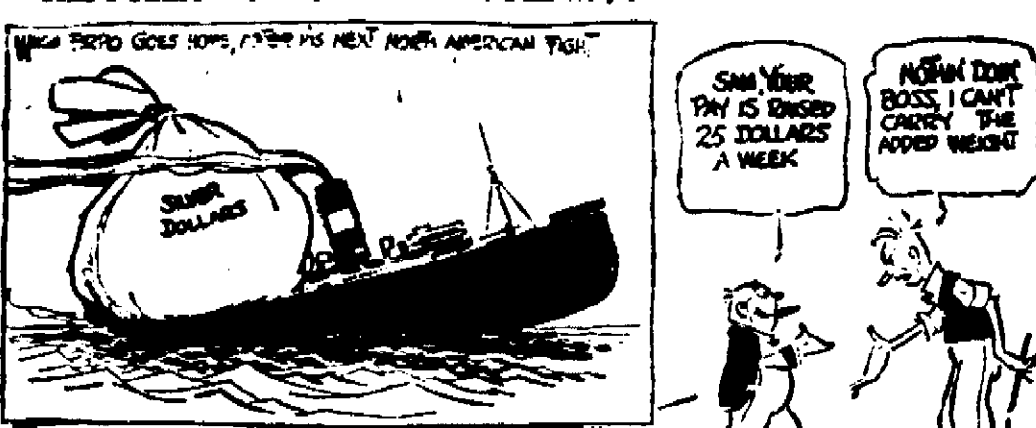

And then, last but not least, on May 1, Secretary Keefe will.

Students of the Normal and High schools will distribute tickets to patrons, old and new, during the next few days. The price never changes. It has remained the same since 1926. Six entertainments, $2.00.

Two distinguished names, "Bonnie the Bonnie Brier Bush," "Vandell," "Madame T. T. Jones," and an Opera, it will be a great year in Oneonta history.

OVERTURNING PRECEDENT

Daughters of American Revolution Discuss Present Events.

The October meeting of Oneonta chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, which was held yesterday afternoon with Mrs. W. R. Blakely, 36 Elm street, to some extent overturned precedent, in that present instead of past events were subject for consideration. Over fifty members attended and the subject of discussion was "The Candidates."

In the discussion Mrs. L. D. VanWoert represented the Republican side, Mrs. Arthur Seybold the Democratic and Miss Florence M. Matteson the Progressive, each giving a clear synopsis of platforms and policies, and following with a sketch of the life of her candidate, Miss Matteson, in addition to her statement of the Progressive principles, though not herself a Progressive, gave a burlesque sketch of the two old parties which was very fine and funny, and closed with a summary of the political history of LaFollette. At the close of the addresses, Miss Tolley, who is chairwoman of the entertainment committee, affirmed that, so convincing were the arguments, the members might be in danger of becoming repeaters—twice over.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. W. R. Blakely, and her assistants, the latter being Miss Elizabeth Blakely and Mrs. R. L. Brigham.

The next meeting will be held on November 13, at which time reports from representatives at the district conference at Hornell on October 15-17 will be given. Mrs. Leslie Gardner will be the delegate and Mrs. Arthur M. Curtis, alternate.

Italian strikers on the job of extending the D. &amp; H. yards at West End are back at work. The few that refused to work were persuaded by Detective Goodrich to vacate the company's quarters. They returned to Albany.

The introduction of place work at the D. &amp; H. shops here, which seems to have been decided upon by the new superintendent of motive power, Mr. Manning, threatens to cause serious trouble between the company and its shop employees.

That Body of Yours

DON'T OBSTRUCT NATURE.

One of the first things my mother taught me, was that when I had eaten something that was not good for me, that my stomach rejected it, and so I vomited. That vomiting was a good act that nature performed for me.

I have often thought of the various other things that nature does for us, and in our blindness, we either fail to recognize them, or actually take pains to prevent them.

For instance, something goes wrong inside you, and immediately your heart beats faster and stronger, you can feel yourself a little warmer and warmer, and you realize that you have some temperature, a fever, as it is often called.

Now your first impulse is to rest and that fever, and you get some relief, but that fever is nature's effort to combat whatever is going wrong, and if the fever is not too high your best plan is to let down, abstain from food, and let the fever go on.

If the temperature gets too high, your doctor will then help you keep it within safe limits.

And then the eruptions that we see in the childhood ailments, such as measles, chicken pox, scarlet fever, and so forth, are again just one of nature's methods of ridding the body of harmful substances. And in the chronic skin ailments, where the eruption persists for weeks or months, the healing of the skin itself should be only a part of the treatment.

The real cause is in the blood, and the way your body handles the food, and the resulting blood comes into the skin.

Nature is again just giving you natural evidence of inward trouble, trying to get your good sense to recognize and remove the cause.

So don't worry about a little eruption, a little eruption, or a little eruption, if they come on a regular basis, if it is a regular eruption, you've done something wrong physically, and profit to the extent of trying to remember just what it is you have done.

You'll thank me for the course of instruction.

They Were Good Detectives

Kansas City (Mo.) police are getting a medal for Betty McQuiston, 11, and a shiny new collar for Prince, her Alcedade pup. Betty and Prince helped the police catch a burglar. She and the dog had the burglar all to themselves when a suspicious-looking car drove up to the place next door. Betty wrote down the license number, then returned home and began talking loudly to Prince. He started making a lot of noise, too. The burglars fled. Next day they were arrested.

EVERYONE IS ELIGIBLE

Regardless of Age, Experience or Training, All May Enter Music Memory Contest—And Many More.

In these days of complicated compositions, it is always a relief when a contest is announced in which there is no preliminary puzzle to be solved, and in which a certain person is eligible to enter. The Music Memory Contest, which will open on Monday next.

Already a large number of entries, blanks for which have been appearing in The Star for the past few days, have been made, but the contest is not for them alone, rather for everyone in Oneonta. Clip the entry blank on page 4 of this issue of The Star and join the crowd.

While the prizes for the contest are well worth the effort of the competition, still the benefit is not alone to the prize winners, any more than the benefits of activity in sports go to the leaders alone. All who enter the contest will know twenty-four of the best known musical masterpieces, which will be conducive to an even wider appreciation of music.

Plan of the Music Memory Contest. Some of the people most interested in the Music Memory contest did not know the nature of the competition until after they had entered. Still a wider circle feels that they would like to enter the contest if they knew its plan.

For their benefit The Star gives the following summary:

There are twenty-four of the best known musical masterpieces included in the contest. A brief history and interpretation, which has been prepared by authoritative writers on each selection, will be found in The Star every day, and the selection of that day will not only be featured there, but as well in the music stores of the city. Records of the selection of that day will be found on victrolas or player pianos near the front of the store, and a representative of the store will play the selection during the lunch hour and from 4:30 to 5 o'clock.

In the schools the selections will also be featured, and without question Oneonta will be singing and whistling all twenty-four pieces before the end of the contest.

A competition will then be held at the High school when parts of the various selections will be played and entrants will fill out answer papers giving the name of and something about the various numbers.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS ELECT

Frank P. McCloskey Chosen Grand Knight at Annual Meeting—Supreme Representative Speaks.

Frank P. McCloskey was elected grand knight at the annual meeting of the Knights of Columbus held last evening at their rooms in the Laskaris block, and the other officers were chosen as follows: Deputy Grand Knight, D. A. Devine; financial secretary, D. W. O'Leary; treasurer, A. J. Boland; recorder, George Long; advocate, Paul J. Smith; warden, John St. Clair; chancellor, Joseph Gibbons; guards, Charles Pidgeon, Michael Hogan, and Francis Williams; and trustee, George Gilmarin.

Delegates to the state convention to be held at Buffalo next May were elected as follows: F. P. McCloskey and D. A. Devine; alternates, D. W. O'Leary and J. P. Kerwin.

L. J. Hanley of Brooklyn, a representative of the supreme lodge of the organization, visited the lodge and spoke briefly but stirringly upon some of the phases of the society, emphasizing the insurance benefits of membership, the social and educational advantages offered, and of the new boys' movement, which is in the process of organization.

In connection with the educational side of the Knights of Columbus, Mr. Hanley called attention to the vocational instruction which is provided for all people, whether members of the organization or not, for the absolute cost of the books, the national organization meeting the balance of the expense.

The boys' work movement is a new one with the organization, but has been in the process of formation for several years. Seven men have been given special training at the expense of the Knights, and they are expected to start the work within a year.

The meeting was one of the finest ever held by the society and augurs well for the coming year.

TWO FLEE; OFFICER SHOOT

Patrolman Cross Arrest Pair Charged With Stealing Coats After Selling Them to Oneonta Clothing Dealer.

The power of observation possessed by Patrolman Harry Cross, together with a shot from his revolver, resulted in the arrest of two men on South Main street, charged with petit larceny, yesterday following a chase which ended when the two men were caught at Prospect street.

The pair gave the names of Alfred Kimmer and Carl Lazo, both of Rochester. It is alleged they entered the clothing store operated by George Wallace on South Main street yesterday morning where each sold an overcoat to Mr. Wallace for $2.00. Mr. Wallace says that after the sales were made, he noticed that the two men loitered around the store and that when he stepped into the rear of the store, the two grabbed the two overcoats and a safety razor and fled without stopping to return the $2.00 apiece which Mr. Wallace had paid them.

Patrolman Cross was coming up South Main street when he saw the two men running down the street. The officer said that he recognized them as two men who had recently been given a night's lodging at police headquarters. Their actions were so suspicious that he ordered them to stop but they continued their flight. Cross took after them and after repeatedly calling to them to stop, he drew his revolver and fired. This only seemed to add wings to the two men's feet but Cross managed to catch them near Prospect street where he placed them under arrest.

They were lodged in jail on the complaint of Mr. Wallace and will be arraigned before Acting City Judge Everett Holmes this morning in the absence from the city of City Judge Lee D. VanWert.

Prehistoric Animal Remains Excavated

Buenos Aires.—Laborers doing excavating work in the suburbs of Vicente Lopez, just outside the city limits of Buenos Aires, have discovered a rich deposit of fossil remains of the beasts who used to inhabit this part of South America in prehistoric ages. The head of a glyptodon, the predecessor of the armadillo, together with dental and thigh bones, were among the finds, which include also bones of a prehistoric tiger.

The glyptodon skull is not of the giant species, but the paleontologists of the National Museum of Natural History, who are conducting the excavation work, consider it as one of the finest examples yet discovered, being almost completely preserved, including nearly all the teeth.

Lifts Stamp Embargo

Budapest.—The Hungarian government has lifted the embargo on rare stamps and stamp collections. It also has decreed that since August 1 until June 30, 1925, the postage stamps must be paid in gold.

Cologne Demolishes Old Walls for Sport Fields

Cologne, Germany.—Some of the ancient walls of Cologne, which date back to the days of the Romans, are being demolished to make room for sport fields. The city plans for expansion, as announced recently by Dr. Marx Adenauer, chief burgomaster.

A great sports stadium, built chiefly by men classed as among the "tunic-clad," has already been completed, and for football fields, golf links and space for other games have been provided for in the rearrangement of the districts on the edge of this ancient city.

Preliminary steps have been taken to enclose Cologne with a great green strip some twenty-five miles in length and averaging five-eighths of a mile in width. It is within this strip that space will be left for sports grounds of various kinds.

Another Prehistoric Skeleton Found in Utah

Salt Lake City, Utah.—The remains of another dinosaur, pronounced the second largest yet found, have been unearthed in the Jensen (Utah) fossil field by Prof. Earl Douglass of the Carnegie Institute. The skeleton is estimated to weigh between five and six tons and the leg bones of the prehistoric animal are twelve to thirteen feet in length.

GEORGIA BALKS AT CONTROL BY SOVIET

Melville Chater Gives Vivid Picture of Country.

Washington.—With nearly all of the republic of Georgia in the hands of insurgents seeking to throw off Soviet Russian control, that country, save in the capital, Tiflis, and the Black sea port, Batumi, is in much the condition that it was in its independent days following the World war. What the country was like before it succumbed to Soviet influence is told in a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society, quoting a communication from Melville Chater.

"Though one has penetrated fairly far into the East at Tiflis," says the bulletin, "one expects vistas of caravans, camels, and Bedouins at the well, he will suffer disillusionment in his first impressions. The Gobi-like Prospekt, which runs through the heart of the Georgian capital, is as handsome a bit of modern metropolism as can be found anywhere. With its restaurants and cafes, its jewelry, art shops and opera, its vice royal palace, the Prospekt, especially when seen in the lounging hour, is undeniably chic.

Wasp-Waisted Males.

Here stroll Russians, Georgians, Armenians and the representatives of a score of mountain tribes who have business in the new capital. There is a splendor of uniforms and of sidearms, the Caucasian national costume dominating the picture. A very long, swagger, overcoat of brown or gray, padded against the elements with waxlike waist, and descending as a smartly flared skirt—this, together with high, beehive boots, a square astrakhan cap, a clanking sword, two magnificently chased daggers, a brace of pistols and sixteen fountain pens strung across his chest represents what I would term the picturesque scenery worn by your typical Georgian in war, in peace, and in the bosom of his countrymen.

"What I have called fountain pens turned out to be more a series of hollow tubes, anciently designed to hold powder and shot.

"One looks at these magnificently accoutered swaggers, with their stiff mustaches and close-shaven skulls, and thinks of comic opera and of the dear old kingdom of Zenda; also one trembles for the League of Nations, fearing that the Georgian will never consent to a reduction of his armament.

"More militarism has no mortgage on uniforms at Tiflis. Everybody wears one, including school children and their teachers, according to Russian custom; and hundreds upon hundreds of civilians are thus armed because, clothes being scarce and expensive, they prefer buying some officer's cast-off outfit.

"The founding hour is important in Georgia. In fact there are some sixteen of these in the Georgian day, and perhaps it would be simpler to speak of the morning hour. Between two and three o'clock, in the afternoon, down go the steel lattices which guard the shops in Tiflis, then Tiflis becomes the national bazaar of the day.

Between two and three o'clock, in the afternoon, down go the steel lattices which guard the shops in Tiflis, then Tiflis becomes the national bazaar of the day.

"The Georgian public function is a superb affair of this sort, he is drunk, boisterous, colorful, carried shoulder high about the room, and a chorus of blaring trumpets who would faint at the close of every feast. Once again one realizes that the Georgian is a man of the heart.

U. S. CITIZENS IN PALESTINE FAVORED

Status to Remain Until Ratification of Mandate.

Jerusalem.—Citizens of the United States living in Palestine are accorded privileges over and above those of citizens and subjects of states who are members of the League of Nations.

This is true now pending American ratification of the British mandate for Palestine, but will probably cease to be the case after the United States government will have signed the convention recognizing the mandate.

The convention, it is believed, will secure for Americans in Palestine the same rights as fall to subjects of states who are league members, but no more.

The status of Americans in Palestine will then probably be the same as in Syria, to the French mandate for which United States was reported recently to have agreed.

For the present Americans here enjoy the rights of capitulations which, before the dismemberment of the Turkish empire, all great powers insisted on maintaining for their citizens. America has not renounced its capitulatory rights in Palestine, and the American consul is the only one holding court and trying cases between American residents.

The position of the American consular court in Jerusalem is a little vague, because it runs parallel with the British system of justice now in force.

The British government, however, is not known to have raised any objection to the existence of the consular court. The Palestine authorities have even gone out of their way to effect judgments made by the consular court. An American sentenced to prison by the consular court may be locked up in a Palestine jail.

United States Consul Oscar S. Helzer, having received no instructions to the contrary, continues to sit in judgment over American residents who get into trouble, but he is not sure how long this condition will continue.

Cardington Will Become World's Greatest Airport

London.—The cabinet's decision to establish an Imperial airship service and to select Cardington, in Bedfordshire, as the home of airship research and experiment will make Cardington the world's greatest airport. It was here that the ill-fated R-38, which broke her back at Hull, was built, and her sister ship, R-39, now stands half completed in the shed. This colossal shed is capable of accommodating two such airships, has up-to-date works nearby a gas manufacturing and painting offices.

Demand for Tests of Machines Taxes Bureau

Washington.—Demands of private manufacturers of scientific and engineering instruments for the government's official stamp of approval have resulted in an appeal for additional funds to meet the bureau of standards which has just completed the fiscal year with approximately $1,000,000 in income, compared with the $2,000,000 of the first year of its existence.

The bureau of standards, which is part of the department of commerce, is one of the most important of the government's engineering and scientific agencies. It is responsible for the maintenance of the national standards of weights and measures, and for the certification of instruments used in commerce and industry.

The government's work is given great importance.

Kills Wife and Children

John Buchanan, 40, former captain in the Royal Air Force, walked into the police station in Ottawa, Ont., and told the sergeant he had just killed his wife and two children. He had at first planned to end his own life, then changed his mind. He blamed his inability to obtain employment for his act. Detectives going to his room found the bodies of his wife, Mrs. Caroline Buchanan, 33, and two children, Kathleen, 7, and John, 6 (above).

BLIND HORSE FELL INTO DITCH

Causing Considerable Commotion Yesterday at Cooperstown Junction.

Late yesterday afternoon George Olds of Maryland practically completed arrangements for the sale of his blind mare, harness and buggy to John George and in order to complete the sale hitched up the rig to drive to Cooperstown Junction, where George was expected to secure cash for an initial payment on the sale and down the valley they started.

It is hinted that in order to lumber on the avenue of trade that both parties were on less than high percentage, but proof thereof is not abundant. However, they were moving along toward their destination merrily with George handling the reins when at a point just below the Universalist church at Cooperstown Junction, the horse took a course too near the edge of the macadam and the buggy collided with the wall at the side of a culvert, resulting in both riders being thrown out of the vehicle and the horse falling into the four-foot ditch at the roadside.

There followed a prolonged effort to get the animal out of the ditch, its hind quarters being down at the bottom of the ditch with its hind feet extending toward the macadam. Finally Mrs. Hyde of the County "Cruelty Society" was summoned and she accompanied by Sergeant Cunningham, reached the scene. It was feared that the animal's back was injured, and the brand being too busy to visit the scene and examine the animal, Dr. Marsh of Cooperstown was summoned.

Before the latter arrived, however, with the aid of ropes the animal had been pulled out of the ditch upon the level ground near the church. It had lain in the ditch nearly three hours and was more tired than its rescuers. After a few minutes it commenced to graze, while recumbent and shortly after arose without assistance. The blind mare was then driven to Dr. Marsh on arrival said that the horse was not seriously injured and, however, Mr. Olds was permitted to lead it home. No prosecution is thought of and the sale will doubtless depend upon the condition of the horse today and the two men remaining like minded.

Shed Moose Horns Afford Hunter Living

Seattle, Wash.—A strange consignment arrived here from Seward. It was a shipment of moose antlers billed to a knife handle and bone novelty factory in Tacoma. The shipment represented two months' work of Moose Harris, who for years has tramped over the moose meadows of Kenai peninsula gathering the old horns dropped by the moose during the shedding process in February.

Harris says the antlers, although of the hardest bone material, must be gathered from the damp forests soon after they are left by the animals. In less than a year they would return to dust, so rapid is the decay in the swampy country. Once safely in a dry factory the bone is indestructible. From the broad smooth antlers, combs, handles and dice are cut. There is a growing market for the bone articles while scrap bone is shipped to China and Japan.

New Verdi Opera Found in Opera House Library

Budapest.—The library of the first post office in the city has long been famous for its collection of musical manuscripts. A new Verdi opera, entitled "The Riders," has been found in the library. The libretto is none other than Friedrich Schiller's famous drama of the same name.

It appears that Verdi composed a cycle of operas which have Schiller dramas for their basis. The cycle included "The Riders" and "The Maid of Orleans." The discovery of "The Riders" will, it is believed, lead to the musical production of the whole cycle in the near future.

U. S. GAME LAWS ARE EXPLAINED

Uncle Sam Compiles Bulletin of State Regulations.

Washington, D. C.—With the opening of the hunting season hunters in all parts of the United States are keen to obtain copies of the government bulletin epitomizing the game laws for 1924-25. Officials say that this document bids fair to have the largest circulation of any single government publication. They also say that it contains as much information as could be crowded into its 38 pages, for it includes a summary of the United States laws and regulations, the statutes of all the individual states and the laws of Canada, Newfoundland and Mexico.

No hunter should be without a copy, according to George A. Lawyer, chief United States game warden, because it will not only contribute toward the hunter's own protection but will assist materially in the enforcement of the game laws, a thing in which every true sportsman is interested. Widespread knowledge of the law is held to be worth far more than a multitude of game wardens.

It is estimated that there are about 6,000,000 hunters in this country. Last year approximately 4,500,000 state licenses to hunt were issued and in addition there are said to be at least a third that number of hunters who are not required to take out licenses because they confine their hunting to their own lands.

No Federal License Required.

No federal license is required at present, but if a bill now pending in the lower house of congress is passed, as officials predict, all hunters of migratory birds will have to obtain permits from the government, for which they will be taxed the sum of $1. The funds created by this fee will be devoted, one-half to the administration and enforcement of the federal game statutes and one-half to the purchase and development of water and marsh areas as feeding grounds for migratory fowl.

The lawful killing of migratory birds began August 10, when the season open for black-bellied and golden plover and yellow legs in the states bordering on the Atlantic and lying north of Chesapeake bay, and for red birds or rice birds in the states of Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. No federal season lasts more than three and a half months and all open seasons for migratory birds close on or before January 31.

One of the most important provisions of the federal law is that which prohibits hunting between sunset and half an hour before sunrise. Hunting from an airplane, from a power or sail boat, or from anything towed by a power or sail boat is forbidden, and no gun that is larger than No. 10 gauge may be used.

No state law can conflict or interfere with the federal statute governing the hunting of migratory birds.

The sale of game is prohibited, everywhere by both federal and state laws. The government has 50 bird and 1 1/2 game reservations on which there is no hunting, with certain minor and unimportant exceptions, and hunting in the national parks is absolutely forbidden.

What Hunters Must Know.

The essential information which a hunter must have includes the dates when seasons open and their limits, the hours during which birds may be killed, the bag limits and the means by which game may be taken.

Of the utmost interest to outdoor enthusiasts and others who for years have urged the enactment of appropriate legislation to check the ever-increasing menace to wild life by all other forms of pollution which have contaminated our coastal and inland waters, destroyed aquatic life therein, and seriously endangered the public health, is the oil pollution bill which became a law on June 7 last.

This act prohibits any vessel using oil as fuel for the generation of power, a power or any vessel carrying oil or having oil thereon in excess of that necessary for lubricating purposes from discharging oil, oil sludge or oil refuse into the coastal and inland waters, including all inland navigable waters in which the tide ebbs and flows.

Another new law of interest to hunters, which also became effective June 7, is that which authorizes the suspension and setting aside as wild the refuge of about 200,000 acres of swamp and low lands along the Mississippi river between Rock Island, Ill., and Wabasha, Minn.

Public sentiment with respect to the observance of the laws protecting wild life has changed appreciably within the last few years, officials say. Hunters have learned that instead of interfering with their inalienable rights these laws are in reality safeguarding the sport in which they are interested, and they now see that they have better hunting than they could possibly have were there no restrictions.

300-Pound Sturgeon

Upper Marlboro, Md.—Edward Owen, Arthur Smith and Thomas Wilson, while hunting some near Hill's bridge on the Patuxent river, caught the largest sturgeon it is believed, ever seen in these waters. It was 11 feet long and weighed more than 300 pounds.

Record Voter

Muskegon Heights, Mich., Oct. 9.—William C. Miller, 50, is proud of his long distance voting record.

For 59 years, Miller has cast his ballot at every election, regular or primary—and in November he will be on hand to keep up his pace.

Born on election day, November 7, 1843, Miller cast his first ballot on his 21st birthday for Abraham Lincoln, when the latter was candidate for a second term.

"I got such a good start voting for Old Abe that I felt that I should be on hand at every election," Miller says. "Every citizen should vote. Maybe your candidate won't always win but you feel as though you had fulfilled your duty when you drop your vote into the box."

SWINDLE CASE ENDS

Troy, Oct. 8.—A case involving an alleged international swindle came to an end in Rensselaer county court here Tuesday when Roy McMillen, John W. Pincott and Arthur E. Cox were discharged after a grand jury failed to indict them. Not one of the men, who were accused of having swindled $100,000 from Ivar Skogstad, Norwegian banker, were in court, and although it was said McMillen now was in a Canadian jail awaiting trial on another swindling charge, none could tell the whereabouts of the other men.
